

Section III.

In or around Conceptual Site model, it is important to elucidate what are the current and reasonably anticipated future uses of the land, groundwater and surface water and to explain the basis for establishing the future uses.

Section V(f)

I am sending along pages 6-10 through 6-25 of the ROD Guidance which outlines in more detail how the Site Characterization Section should look and it gives example tables that will be required in the RI/FS and Risk Assessment documents. I want your contractor to pay close attention to this outline and supplement yours wherever necessary.
